

Born Keleigh Marie Williamson in San Diego, Ca.. Lives in Valley Center, Ca.. Some say that I'm more grit than girl at times. I grew up driving my Opa's tractors before I could walk. Born and raised into Agriculture.

You see, my Opa was John D Radewald, the world's expert in the field of Nematology. When I wasn't chasing down livestock, mom could find me in the field with Opa "helping" him put in a field plot trial or driving the tractor tilling the soil getting the field ready for fumigation. I was raised helping out in the fields and helping on Oma and Opas farm taking care of the livestock, pruning Christmas trees, fixing irrigation or whatever the jobs were for that day.

Raised by my mom, dad left when I was 7, I learned early how to take care of myself and how to "make do." My mom was in Agriculture. She taught Ag. for five years and has taught Science the past 31 years. I tell you this because this too is my goal. I dream to become and Agriculture teacher one day and I'm working hard to achieve that goal. I want to go to Cal Poly San Luis Obispo to become an Agriculture teacher.

The many experiences in my local FFA chapter and raising livestock to show at Del Mar and other jack pot shows has helped to mold me into becoming a more knowledgeable Agriculture teacher in the future. I hope someday to spark the same interest and love for Agriculture in other students someday.

I would greatly appreciate your kindness, generosity and support to make this dream of mine a reality. Born and raised into Agriculture and teaching others about Agriculture, nothing in this world is better than that.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT, KELEIGH MARIE
